MODERN SCIENCE AND THE BIBLE

[Modern man in his quest for learning apart from God stands in the path of huge tidal waves of theories that sweep into the corridors of present day education. The magnificent physical order is presented in such a way of unrealism that the unbelievable is accepted in place of the truth. Only God can rescue from the flood of unscientific reasoning that rigidly holds its iron-clad grip on the individual. If a heart once looks to God in prayer, He alone can unlock the impossibilities and remove the icy grip of these distorted theories.]

"Great is our Lord, and of great power; his understanding is infinite." The construction of the Master Architect causes us to stand in awe. From the tiny atom to the gigantic universes, we behold an order and exactness that is amazing.

Consider His beautiful winter wonderland. "Hast thou entered into the treasures of the snow?" "He sendeth forth his commandment upon earth: his word runneth very swiftly. He giveth snow like wool: he scattereth the hoarfrost like ashes. He casteth forth his ice like morsels: who can stand before his cold?"

Men who are skilled have taken thousands of photographs of magnified snowflakes. In basic construction, all were the same, but each differed from every other in design. Each snowflake up and down the scale adds its own tone of beauty, and when played by the Creator, fills this earth with the beautiful melody of wintertime loveliness.

With true scientific method, God

"He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters."

[The world roars on in its rush of every-day living. The deafening clash of a multitude of futile activities close in on its inhabitants. The noisy din pounds incessantly on its pleasure-loving children. But there is a safe retreat from this commotion. God's children have found the peaceful resort He provides. Give your ear now to Brother Ramas Schlatter as he tells of the beauties of this peaceful retreat.]

DIVINE COMPASSION

"What man of you, having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, until he find it? And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders, rejoicing. And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying unto them, Rejoice with me; for I have found my sheep which was lost. I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance."

It is assumed that David wrote these words when he was fleeing from his rebellious son Absalom. No doubt he was recalling the happiest days of his life when he was tending his father's sheep and where he learned how to trust in his Lord and Saviour.

Many times perhaps he led his sheep into some green pasture by a still stream where they could satisfy themselves and lie down in contentment. In those days he was only a poor shepherd lad, but he had learned to trust in his God who never failed him even in times of fear and sorrow. No doubt he would have been glad to have given up his royal authority and his wealth for just such a time as he experienced back in his youth.

We who are living in our world of wealth and pleasure might do well to look to some of David's experiences and learn to trust in his and our God. Although we have many wonderful inventions in our day, we seem to have lost the art of true Christian fellowship. We do not seem to be able to lie down in God's Word of green pastures and beside the still waters of prayer. We might do well to remember the secret of power lies in being alone with God.

David experienced this many times in his life when he was a shepherd lad. Once while he was caring for his flock he professed it was the power from God which helped him to kill the lion and the bear. Although there was a large crowd present when he slew the giant, yet David was alone with his God because he trusted on-

"Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain. And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible."

Through the precious name of Jesus we have been saved from sin and its penalty. "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." Now we want to please Him. He said, "If a man love me, he will keep my words." Some day, already marked on God's calendar, we are going to receive our trophy, if we have been faithful and true.

How about my training for this battle of life? Is it such that I can say I have obeyed the rules of my Jesus? We must not partake of anything that will not develop our spiritual man. We must be diligent in exercising ourselves the way God wants us, so that every part of our spiritual physique is built up. "Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ."

Some of the things our Lord asks us to sacrifice hurt, because our flesh desires its own way. But we have chosen the way of the cross. "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me." When we submit to God's training, we are sharp and keen toward heavenly things. "...bodily exercise profiteth little: but godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come." Taking part in this world's pleasure and sports, even with our ear, makes us blunt in cutting the joy and pleasures of a spiritual life.

We must be in the center of God's will to experience moment by moment joy and contentment. "That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, May be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God."

We must be on guard against the adversary of our souls. Our coach's instructions are: "Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation". Satisfying the clamoring of the flesh leaves a large hole in our defense!

We must be forward in carrying His glorious banner into victory. "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven." We must be continually pressing in with love for spiritual victory. Each of us should pray for power to love all and be thus unconquerable.

All through the practice sessions and at our last minute instructions our coach has emphasized love among the team. "A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another." When jealousy and bickering and strife make their ugly inroads, our speed is slowed down and even stopped. Love looks over the minor mistakes and faults and peculiar ways of our fellow members. Each fills his own place to the body of the team. "And the eye cannot say unto the hand, I have no need of thee: nor again the head to the feet, I have no need of you. Nay, much more those members of the body, which seem to be more feeble, are necessary". Love will so perfectly coordinate our actions that we will work and live and suffer as one, hand in hand journeying onward to the celestial city.

Detroit: On December 17, Helen Shaw was baptised and added to the fold of Christ. We wish her God's blessings in her new life. Brother Rudolph Graf of Akron and Brother Otto Ramseyer and Brother Henry Wackerle of Bay City conducted our services on that day. A number of others from Bay City and Dan Emery of Akron were also with us.

Remington: Baptismal services were held Sunday, December 31, for Mr. and Mrs. Odell Pittman, Marvin Clauss, Mary and Esther Kilgus. George Yergler of LaCrosse, Indiana, was with us for the occasion. "The Lord bless thee, and keep thee". Num. 6:24.

Wolcott: We are happy to report that our friends, Mr. and Mrs. Onie Klopfenstein, have turned to the Lord in repentance. We wish them God's grace and guidance further on. They were announced to have peace on January 28.

Lamont: Sunday, December 17, Mrs. Emil Huber was added to the Fold of Christ at Gridley, Kansas. "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you." St. John 15:16. Visiting brethren were Noah Schrock of Oakville, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wittmer, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bahr of Sabetha, Roy Farney of Burlington, Oklahoma, and Robert Young of Wichita. Even though we cannot have peace in world affairs, let us never lose that peace which cometh from Him above. "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." St. John 14:27.

Forrest: Hugh Wallace is a patient at the St. Francis Hospital in Peoria, Illinois. We rejoice with him that he has found his Savior and wish him a speedy recovery.

Roanoke: On January 28, Mr. and Mrs. James Martin were announced for proving.

went about His work of creation. Like a huge choir singing in perfect harmony, all His creative acts blended their individual voices, attesting to the wisdom of their Creator. We can certainly say, "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

Their is danger in doubt. Unbelief is crouched, ready to spring at the least opening. Once gained, its poisoning festers and spreads to more and more of the soul. The feverish mind is led into accepting a framework of theories that deceive into total darkness. The giant steel jaws spring shut, crushing every bone of life. "O Timothy, keep that which is committed to the trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called: Which some professing have erred concerning the faith."

Held up to His truth, all knowledge contrary to His revealed evidence becomes a maze of blind alleys. His natural laws shine out clear and brilliant, richly endowing every eager child of His with the true facts of the natural sciences. "Doth not wisdom cry? and understanding put forth her voice? . . . Hear; for I will speak of excellent things; and the opening of my lips shall be right things. For my mouth shall speak truth. . . . They are all plain to him that understandeth, and right to them that find knowledge."

God begins His own report of the creation with these words: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." Of what does the material we see consist? "Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear." God's children, centuries ago, could grasp scientific precepts, even though they were never schooled in a college or university. Today science reveals exactly the same truth.

Every physical thing we see consists of atoms—the paper you are reading, your hands, your hair, the water you drink, even the air you breathe. An atom is a miniature workshop, humming with activity. The workers are tiny units of electrical energies. The positive worker is called an electron, while the negative is called a neutron. By far the greatest area in an atom is space. One estimate of the size of an electron is 1/50,000 the diameter of the atom. One man says that if all the space were taken out of the body, what would be left would be a speck just visible with a magnifying glass! Or take an estimate of the size of a combination of the workshops, the molecule.—Six specks of dust containing a thousand million.

God was the Engineer that designed these magnificent dynamos. He gave each of the tiny workers their duties. The wheels of this industry are turning — the electrons and neutrons put their shoulders to the work. They interact and cooperate, and we see the fruits of their labors. The holy scriptures alone is the key that explains why these energies so perfectly coordinate in the structure we call the physical world. "Blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, waiting at the posts of my doors. For whoso findeth me findeth life, and shall obtain favour of the LORD. But he that sinneth against me wrongeth his own soul: all they that hate me love death."

We can take a lesson from the teamwork among these tiny units of electrical particles. The activity and cooperation of them give the elements. Oxygen and gold are two of the 90-100 different elements. God's careful planning is very evident. Each is different as we step up the scale, and yet each blends its tonal qualities to the beautiful chord of orderliness. "Who hath measured the waters in the hollow of his hand, and meted out heaven with the span, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure, and weighed the mountains in scales, and the hills in a balance?"

"The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handywork." Have you ever been enthralled with the sweet melody God plays in the starry heavens?

"Lift up your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, that bringeth out their host by number: he calleth them all by names by the greatness of his might, for that he is strong in power; not one faileth."

Marvelous is the power of the Creator. Every movement of this starry symphony is rich in splendor and magnitude. "And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night: he made the stars also. And God set them in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth, And to rule over the day and over the night, and to divide the light from the darkness: and God saw that it was good."

We cannot understand all as we peer into the starry spaces, but we can direct the wonder of our hearts into praise for our great God. The astronomy revealed in His Word we know is our telescope of wisdom that explains some of the facts of this vast mechanism of universes and universes.

This particular universe contains billions of stars, even perhaps hundreds of billions. As men peer into the starry distances, they see clouds of light, perhaps other universes. One million of these have been discovered and the perimeter of the universe of universes has not been found. Many estimates of men through the years have proven false, but God's Word has been and always will be the sure test. We can read that God brought Abram forth abroad, and said, "Look now toward heaven, and tell the stars, if thou be able to number them: . . . So shall thy seed be." God says in Jeremiah 33:22: "As the host of heaven cannot be numbered, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiply the seed of David my servant, and the Levites that minister unto me."

If an airplane could travel between the earth and the sun at 250 m. p. h., it would take around 53 years. To reach Jupiter it would take around 275 years, while the second most distant planet would require approximately 1600 years. But a small yard in Chicago compared with the rest of the earth is scarcely adequate to compare the solar system with this universe. "Canst thou bind the sweet influences of Pleiades?" The light that can be seen today from Pleiades has been travelling approximately 168,000 miles per second. It started its journey about the time of the first settlement of English colonists in America.

"When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; What is man, that thou are mindful of him?" Pause in wonder as you consider how much farther the starry creation of our God goes! Scientists estimate the spiral nebulae of Andromeda at hundreds of thousands of years away, when the speed of travel is 168,000 miles per second. Yet this is not farthest point discovered, and the border of the starry network has not been found! The estimates could be wrong, but God's Word is always sure.

"Who hath directed the Spirit of the LORD, or being his counsellor hath taught him? . . . Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the small dust of the balance: behold, he taketh up the isles as a very little thing."

"And God made the beast after his kind, and cattle after their kind, and every thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind: and God saw that it was good." Think of the wide variety of creatures in this world, for example, the tiny field mouse, the tall giraffe, the elephant, the ant. Infinite wisdom carried out the intricate details of each creature.

Experiment and observation will never explain how so complex a creature as a giraffe is produced. The baby giraffe begins as a single impregnated cell begins dividing. The production work proceeds and the ears are put in place, the heart is built, the body takes shape. But how are the cells so marvellously coordinated and guided in their actions? And how do the myriads of electrons and neutrons collectively come together and bring the right elements into the right relationship? We would stand in amazement if we would see a house build itself up, putting in the windows and doors and every small detail. We become lost in a maze of thinking, but we know that the intelligence of God explains all. "Ah Lord God! behold, thou hast made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and stretched out arm, and there is nothing too hard for thee. . ."

If we could see this first cell of the giraffe and compare it with the first cell of a field mouse, we would find they would look somewhat similar. Yet within each is the blue-print for the outline of the grown animal. As the cell begins dividing, a certain part takes no part in the construction of body-building, but stays intact and will be part of the reproduction mechanism of the baby giraffe. Thus we see how God has provided that like must begat like. A chain runs back to the day when the first giraffe was created!

Intelligence that we cannot comprehend drew up so marvellous a plan for humanity that we stand in awe at every step of the way. From a tiny, tiny first cell comes a vast network of nerves, the complex machinery of the brain, the delicate engineering of the bones, the sensitive photographic machinery of the eye, the wonderful receiving mechanism of the ears, each at their proper time and in their proper place. Our hearts blend with David's in his words of praise: "I will praise thee; for I am fearfully and wonderfully made; marvellous are the works; and that my soul knoweth right well. My substance was not hid from thee, when I was made in secret, and curiously wrought in the lowest parts of the earth. Thine eyes did see my substance yet being unperfect; and in thy book all my members were written, which in continuance were fashioned, when as yet there was none of them." How did these electrons and neutrons become arranged into hundreds of millions or perhaps more of cells? Every explanation other than the facts in the holy scriptures leads to a blind alley. We find rest for our weary intellect in the scriptural revelation. "As thou knowest not what is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones do grow in the womb of her that is with child; even so thou knowest not the works of God who maketh all." The human faculties are so that human reason cannot peer into the things that have been purposely hidden from view. This is true with both physically and spiritual truths. The ordinary processes of science become completely outmoded; experiment and observation and reason must be laid aside. In the physical world, scientists can observe that certain things are happening and can construct formulas that will fairly accurately gauge the results, but cannot see the actual working. They see the reflection, but the real machinery is hidden from human eyes.

"He hath made every thing beautiful in his time: also he hath set the world in their heart, so that no man can find out the work that God maketh from the beginning to the end." Man can gain knowledge of how atoms act through probability tables, but the atom remains a mystery. Man can figure the interval between two stars through the addition of the concept of space-time, but the marvellous workings of the clockwork of the starry creation remains a mystery. Life itself is a great mystery to natural man.

Brilliantly lighting the sky of comparatively recent discoveries are the evidences found in the annals of different peoples, and in geology, in archeology, and in statistics. Thousands of discoveries blend their individual voices in such a mighty symphony that the music thunders throughout the halls of our modern twentieth century.

The holy scriptures reveal the facts of a world-wide flood. "And the waters prevailed exceedingly upon the earth; and all the high hills, that were under the whole heaven, were covered. . . . And all flesh died that moved upon the earth, both of fowl, and of cattle, and of beast, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, and every man."

The fact that the genealogy of every branch of the human family runs back to Noah and his family is shown by the accounts of the flood that have been found. We can take the Aztecs of America, the Hindu of Asia, the Greeks of Europe, or the Fiji Islanders and each shows evidence of the great flood. All together, no less than 41 nations, tribes, and dialects give evidence of the facts in the Bible.

The Miao people live in inland China. Listen to part of their account:

"So it poured forty days in sheets and in torrents . . .

The waters surmounted the mountains and ranges.

The deluge ascended leapt valley and hollow . . .

But the Patriarch Noah was righteous.

The Matriarch Gaw Bo-lu-en upright.

Built a boat very wide

Built a boat very vast. . . ."

What a dark and dismal picture was natural scenery on the earth during the great deluge. "In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, the seventeenth day of the month, the same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened." "And the waters prevailed upon the earth an hundred and fifty days."

The scars remain yet. Fossils, animal and human, are found in such great quantities and in such arrangement that the chronicle of the great deluge can be read from the earth's memoirs! Stones and boulders nearby, together with the bones, are rubbed, ground, smoothed by water.

An excavation discovered evidence of the flood at Ur of the Chaldees, Abram's old home. Remains of part of the civilization of Abram's time were found. Then when the depth of the outer plain was reached, eight feet of clean, water-laid clay was discovered, the flood's own record, written by itself. Deeper still were the remains of civilization before the flood. At Kish, hundreds of miles away, an amazing echo was found of the great deluge! Stranded fish remains were lying perfectly horizontal. Receding flood waters left their toll on dry land. ". . . and, behold, the face of the ground was dry.

By a study of statistics it has been calculated that the population of the world doubles approximately every 168.3 years. Using this ratio from Noah's family gives approximately the present population. If the ratio was used from Adam's time, the figure would be much too large. The holy scriptures state: "And God blessed Noah and his sons, and said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth."

The most beautiful melody of all, with its heavenly strains going on into eternity, is Jesus dwelling in the heart of His ransomed child. However, there is one essential that is absolutely indispensable for salvation, the evidence of faith. "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen . . . he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him." Faith is the hand of the heart that reaches through the reasoning of the natural man to God. "But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned."

The crisis of your life is not reached in your reason, but in your heart. You must make a choice of what you want to do. When you open the door of your will, God will show you the next step. He knows the case history of every human personality. Do you want to know God? "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened."

In some way cold logic can never understand, God creates a longing in the heart for inner peace. "For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God." The individual begins to recognize how sick he is. He begins to realize how grotesque and weird has been the feverish delirium in which he has been so restlessly tossing.

"Repent ye, and believe the gospel." Repentance is the marvellous process God uses for the soul to be severed from sin. Human nature is infected with a deadly poisonous malady that has ingrown every part of the human heart. Jesus says, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." He took the sentence due us for our sins, and now by faith we come for forgiveness that He has earned.

Step by step the grace of God enables the willing one to go. "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." It is very important to do His bidding and wait His time. His time and method for repentance will vary with the individual. Rushing through ahead of His Will would be a work of the flesh. To open a chrysalis will not yield a beautiful butterfly. Only the proper method and time God provides will provide a complete purging and lead into the beautiful valley of peace.

The psychology revealed in the holy scriptures shows how perfect God's knowledge is of the human personality. The workings of the heart and the words of the mouth are interrelated. Open confession of each sin removes a splinter that has ached for many years. Irritations with others that have rubbed raw or have been fermenting unacknowledged are corrected through restitution and apology. Jesus sets the individual on the road to recovery. "He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds."

After baptism, with the laying on of hands, the Holy Spirit comes to dwell in the cleansed heart. His communion is sweeter than all. More real than any power of reasoning is the unseen presence of Jesus. And when the life's work is ended, His redeemed will journey on and on with Him through a timely eternity. ". . . there the glorious Lord will be unto us a place of broad rivers and streams. . . ." Why don't you slip down off the pride of your heart and lift your eyes in prayer to this Wonderful One?

He leadeth me beside the still waters ly in his guidance, and he was not disappointed.

Although our problems and cares might appear to us as the giant did to the Israelites, we should trust in the living God as David did and not in earthly riches and power. Then we too can say as David did:

"The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want."

The Secret of Sunshine Valley

ALSO NEWS OF SHUT-INS

Paul writes, "... I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content." Have you learned the secret of contentment? Until you have, you close your eyes to some of the most beautiful scenic spots of your spiritual trip through this world. What we often overlook as some things to be avoided, some things that hurt ourselves too much, are lovely wooded trails that are filled with the fragrance of heavenly joy.

Contentment

O, that we might be content,
With what our Blessed Lord has sent,
Whether on the mountain peak,
Or sobbing when the trial we meet.
He it is Who knows the best,
He it is Who sends the test.
He has said He'll ne'er forsake,
But guard us tho we sleep or wake
So trust Him now, cast out your fear,
Put on a smile and dry that tear.

"... godliness with contentment is great gain." Can you bring the gift of a will resigned and still? There are so many thorns of our own making that we put in our way in our path to glory. We make the going so extra hard for ourselves by our inward murmuring and complaining against the interruptions and pains of life. It is in quietness and confidence that we drink in all the beauty of a rich heavenly experience. "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ".

Are you on the main road to glory, the shortest cut to rest? "Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God: thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness." Perhaps we have an ideal in our mind of what our path should be like. We see what we could be doing if living were normal, if we were on the path that exists in dreams. But that path may be a dead-end. The Master carefully maps every mile of our way. The pains we have, the interruptions we experience, the hardships we encounter are all road signs that point us closer to Home. "Cause me to hear thy loving kindness in the morning; for in thee do I trust; cause me to know the way wherein I should walk; for I lift up my soul unto thee."

Do you daily experience the thrill of God's Book? Have you paused in wonder as you view the awe-inspiring depths of His mercy? Have you seen the holy scripture's majestic mountain-peaks and viewed its lovely hidden valleys? "Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart. . . ."

"Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus." "Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life. . . ." At the end of our road is Home. Think of feeling invigorated and find it immortality. We will breathe new air and find it immortality. Gone will be the sickness, the pain, the sleepless nights, the heartaches. Towering in the center of our view of faith is the Father's house of many mansions. Its peace and joy and rest will be more sweet than we can imagine, except by faith.

"Beyond the parting and the meeting,

I shall be soon

Beyond the farewell and the greeting,

Beyond the pulse's fever beating . . .

Beyond the waking and the sleeping. . . Love—rest—and home, sweet, sweet home!" Pack your grips, for we are soon leaving for a vacation paradise of eternal sunshine, where there is forever a springtime of joy.

Can You Trace the Rainbow Through the Clouds?

"O send out thy light and thy truth: let them lead me; let them bring me unto thy holy hill, and to thy tabernacles. Then will I go unto the altar of God, unto God my exceeding joy: yea, upon the harp will I praise thee, O God, my God."

Have you ever entered into the pictures and descriptions in the travel folders God provides for His travelers? "... we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness." Come with me up the mountains of faith, and let us view this paradise of beauty.

"Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God." Man was created to experience a day by day personal acquaintance with God. True joy was found in the tie that bound man to his Maker. Without it, we were thirsty and were endlessly restless and feverish. What delight will that be to actually gaze into the face of Him who is the Source of light and life and love.

"My life's best delight and pleasure, Is yon heaven, God's own throne!
And my greatest prize and treasure, Is my Saviour, God's own Son.
All that fills my heart with joy,
Waits in glory there on high."

"And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away." Home at Last! With the palm trees of happiness gently swaying in the soft breezes of contentment, we will find that the glorious day has arrived. What a state of delight it will be as we walk in perfect health through the glories of eternity. The shadows of earth will all be gone. "For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind."

Vacation time is nearing. We are going to live in a land of eternal sunshine. The best golden sunshine of this earth will be dim compared with heaven's brilliant glory! "... the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it: for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof."

"Some one will gladly his cross lay down, by and by;

Faithful, approved, shall receive a crown,

Shall you? Shall I?

Some one the glorious King will see,

Ever from sorrow of earth be free,
Happy with Him thro' eternity:

Shall you?

Shall I?"

Have you telegraphed ahead for your reservation in the Lamb's book of Life?

We list the following, whose last page has been turned over and "The End" of earthly life has been reached.

Mansfield: Sister Sophia Fernyak suffered a stroke, January 3 while visiting her sister, Mrs. Bertha Stavenik, near Leo, Indiana. She passed from this life January 21 at the age of 71 years. The body was brought to Mansfield for burial. Brothers Forest Ritzman and Rudolph Graf of Akron conducted the funeral services. We extend our sympathy to the family. We will miss the friendly smile of Sister Sophia.

Portland

Although their mission was sad, we could still enjoy the visit of Joseph Conrad and daughter, Thelma Schlatter, from Leo, Indiana; Diana Conrad from Pasadena, California; and Al Conrad from San Francisco, California, who came to attend the funeral of Sam Conrad.

The family was invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Miller for dinner and spent a blessed evening there.

On the nights of December 21, 22, and 23, the young group of our congregation went caroling for shut-ins, old aged, and poor and needy families. We also distributed boxes of food and clothing to those who were less fortunate. It helped us to realize, in part, the blessings which we take too much for granted, and though we were able to do so little, God let fall upon us His "Showers of Blessings."

On December 24, the congregation enjoyed a Christmas program presented by the Sunday School. The Spirit of God could be felt, as the children portrayed the true meaning of Christmas.

Most of the young people spent New Years' Day at Mt. Hood. How beautiful the graceful firs and pines were, as they bent under their heavy load of glistening, white snow. Before we left, a blizzard had begun, hurling snow all about us. What a change of weather within 50 miles of Portland, where the lawns are green and scattered flowers can be seen blooming. True beauty can be found in His creations.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Allenbach, from Harper, Kansas, have been visiting relatives around Portland for the last six weeks. They left for home on Jan 11. We all enjoyed their visit and fellowship.

parents. The family wishes to thank the many friends for their kindness and thoughtfulness during their bereavement.

Portland: Brother Sam H. Conrad was born at Leo, Indiana, and departed from this life December 12, 1950, at the age of 69 years. He spent 48 years of his life in Portland, Oregon.

He united with the Portland Church, where he remained a faithful member. He was with the Portland Fire Department 42 years, serving as fire alarm and telegraph operator. Surviving are three brothers, Joseph of Leo, Al of San Francisco, Theo, and one sister, Martha, both of Portland, five nieces and one nephew. He endeared himself by his loving kindness and generous hospitality to the many who crossed the threshold of his home. "To know him was to love him."

FOR EDWARD SIEBENTHAL of Goodland, Indiana

who passed away Dec. 14, 1950

You're just away!

But oh! we're yearning so much for you,

So suddenly you've climbed a hill
And with a smile you dropped from view;

We're listening for your old time step,
We'll try to go on remembering the joys we once knew,

But the clouds seem low as we mourn for you,

Walk slowly down that pathway—
And in faith as we oft come to the garden of prayer

May we find the sun shining there.

Dear Brethren and Friends:

Greetings! Herewith is a report of offerings for the Lord's work entrusted to me for the past year and also a report of how I have used the offerings for needy people and nations, for the furtherance of the gospel and for the work of salvation.

Total amount of offerings for scriptures and mission work for 1950$5773.00

European Aid—For scriptures and mission work among refugees and others in Austria and Germany$2200.00

American Bible Society—World's needs 700.00

Northern Bible Society 200.00

Oriental Missionary Society.. 1150.00

Scriptures for Japan, Philippine Islands, Korea, Nationalist China, South America, Greece.

Island of Haiti, West Indies

For paper and translations and printing of the New Testament in the native language of Creole	1320.00

Overseas Blind — Scriptures in Braille	50.00
Refugees in England—Scriptures in Polish, Latvian, and German	100.00
Alabama Needs	50.00
Postage for packages	3.00

It is only by a knowledge of God's Word by which men receive light and salvation, and may you consider it a privilege to help in the furtherance of the gospel of truth and light.

The redeemed of all ages will be saved by faith in the blood of the Lamb, the record of whom is found in the one book of all books, the Holy Bible.

"And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation."

Assuring you of my earnest desire to apply your offering to the most needy people and nations for the work of salvation.

Yours in His service,

Henry Beer.
