The Golden Glow Of God

HOME JOYS ARE BEAUTIFUL!

"And again he saith, Rejoice, ye Gentiles, with his people.

And again, Praise the Lord, all ye Gentiles; and laud him, all ye people.

And again, Esaias saith, There shall be a root of Jesse, and he that shall rise to reign over the Gentiles;

in him shall the Gentiles trust.

Now the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the Holy Ghost."

Romans 15:10-13

Journey To Calvary

Henry Souder Jr.

The gate opened into the highway . . . and folks and perhaps chariots would be coming and going.

The walls of the city rose to defended heights . . . and behind them was the skyline of a city.

Near-by was a garden.

Here was Golgotha . . . warmed by His sunshine. . . Sometimes it was a pretty blue above . . . and sometimes fleecy, white clouds would softly sail. The sun would play its colorful rays, and sometimes shadows would come.

The walls cast a shadow. The countryside horizon was away and beautiful, the way He meant it.

"And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified him, and the male-factors, one on the right hand, and the other on the left."

We may see what the name carried to those who knew first-hand. The place, Calvary, means the place of a skull. Its description is heavy with the vivid picture of death.

Mid-morning. The sun is climbing, and strikes a shadow of the cross and the Saviour.

Gaze . . .

The arm is outstretched . . . the lines of love, the tender flesh, the fingered beauty . . . no artist could draw . . . there . . . the nail . . . through the lovely hand . . . struck, till it bit into the wood and held there. . . THINK OF IT!

The other hand is stretched out the other way . . . the crushing thud has smashed through the screaming nerves, and now holds the hand to wood . . . there is blood . . .

Nailed . . . the feet have been pierced and fastened . . . and His human body is there . . . nailed! . . . crucified . . . on the wood.

"Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do."

How He always thought of others!

One day He came to a funeral procession. A heart-broken mother accompanied the remains of her only son, her treasure. The sad, resting place . . . there she must leave him. Loneliness stirred. Stunned grief showed. But Jesus cared. His lovely heart was touched. He spoke, and the poor mother's horizon gloried in the Light of His love. Now her boy would be in his own place, in the home again!

The lovely, lovely hands of Jesus . . . they tenderly embraced the little ones in His heavenly bosom . . . they brought the Father's blessing with their touch.

He touched and to the lonely, forsaken leper came healing health and happiness.

Now every move was in piercing agony. The lovely hands were nailed. The tiring body would find no where to rest. It would sink, but He had no pivot of power, but the nail through His feet.

Such unfathomable love . . . the face is beaten . . . the back is against the wood . . . the brow is thorn-torn . . . yet, such friendly, loveable, glowing, sweet compassion shines . . . for someone besides himself.

"And they parted his raiment, and cast lots."

That coat . . . how a catch of its color would bring gladness in the heart. How it must have warmed many a soul to see His dear form coming.

One day in Capernaum a daddy was worried and heartsick. His only little girl was deathly ill. She hovered so near death's door. Daddy went to get Jesus to help his darling.

Dear Jesus would come.

But before He got there, she died. The lips would be silently silent. But Jesus cared. He is so kind. He told her daddy not to be afraid, only believe.

His dear feet walked to where the little form was resting. He talked, and her eyes opened! Jesus gave to them alive their own little darling again.

But now the cross . . . and close, the four, seeing who would take the coat.

Jesus was walking the long, last, lonely, weary mile . . . walking bravely for another . . . to wipe sorrow's tear away . . . to bring everlasting joy . . . to bring to the family circle.

"And the people stood beholding him. And the rulers also with them derided him, saying, He saved others; let him save himself, if he be Christ, the chosen of God."

A sinner once stole in, to where Jesus was. The poor thing was unbearably sin-scorched with anguish and guilt. His kindness struck a candle-glow of Something lovely. His Light shone into a dreary clutter.

The tears came. Behind Him, she silently washed His dear feet with her teardrops. Then she took her lovely flowing locks and dried them.

The words that Jesus spoke dreamlit the mists with beauty . . . she had never known . . . the world was distant . . . her fondest dream of peace was real.

All the prolongings and thoughts and cares can be stole away from . . . the chance is golden . . .

"And the sun was darkened, and the veil of the temple was rent in the midst."

The shadow from the city wall is lost in the shadow from above. The country horizon is darkened . . . gloom rides over the garden.

Trace the cross and the form in the twilight of suffering . . . trace the outline of a suffering form . . .

Yet, there is only one great tragedy. If you miss life . . . the day comes when you stand alone and tragic. The great Accountant opens the book. It is a day that is of darkest despair. Then you know.

The scorch of bitter anguish sears the head with blistering heat . . . the heart is sick . . . the scream of the numberless terrifies . . . never counting out . . . and the black blackness . . . utterly dyed of death, the second . . . "Where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched."

Jesus came, and was made sin for us, that we might be made right with God in Him.

"And when Jesus had cried with a loud voice, he said, Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit: and having said thus, he gave up the ghost."

There's quiet now. A soldier stands awed. The form from the cross hangs, still and silent. The awful plunge of the sword has reached its deepest mark.

He won it all for you and me.

Sound Teaching

"ETERNAL JUDGMENT"

Hours and days and years are constantly moving. We are not always distinctly aware of the movement of life. But . . . circle a date on the calendar . . . soon it is not only reached, but it is in the past.

It is a fact that the judgment will be real. It is circled on God's calendar. We move toward it now; after, we will move away.

"For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad." II Corinthians 5:10.

Heavenly bookkeeping balances to the last penny. No entry of what tongue on earth has said, no dark secret is passed.

Your name has been entered on heavenly ledger. It is astonishing how "our own" the record is. Accurately, and to the detailed point, it not only declares the action, but the thoughts and counsels inside that moved the action.

"So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God." Romans 14:12.

Solemn will be the moment. The record is there. The gain or the loss is but the reflection of what we do today.

Then your name is up. You hear its familiar sound. You stand before the great Judge. The evidence is carefully presented. The tested stands before the impartial bar. The answer is already in your heart. But to hear it, its tremendous gravity, its echo of result!

"And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?" I Peter 4:18

There is no appeal, nor reprieve, no parole from His sentence of doom!

Far off . . . away in the distant . . . will be remembered the scenes of light and home. Rejection is but time's photograph of the sinner of eternity. Better it would be if he had never been born.

The soul cannot cease to exist. It bears the impress of God. It was created in His image. He lives for ever.

But, to heedlessly disobey is to strangle the soul to the death, much much worse than passing away. Henceforth, the soul must ever remain aflutter . . . existent . . . and finally flung into outer darkness.

"And whoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire." Revelation 20:15

To hear the horrible roar of those dashing waves of flame now . . . to put the ears to the scriptural sound-piece, and hear their hot storm relentlessly enveloping . . . to picture the utter doom of no end . . . causes us to flee to One who can shelter now in His sunshine and care.

Before lunch, a short message was given by Brother Paul Von Tobel. Lunch was served to forty-eight young folks and 17 adults. It was then revealed, each had a number on their Bible verse favors. Groups were given certain clean-up jobs, so dishes and all were done in no time. It seemed to be more fun than the work it involved.

Several of us were quite shocked Sunday, February 14, as we saw our

For several days, he was in critical condition, but we're glad to report he's much improved, although still in the hospital. "My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest." Although this section of the country is somewhat classed in the arid section, and in past years we have experienced severe periods of drought, we have been richly blessed this past fall and winter with moisture, both by rain and snow.

HIS PRAISES I WILL SING

I've learn'd to sing a glad new song
Of praise unto our King!
And now with all my ransom'd pow'rs
His praises I will sing.

I've learn'd to sing the song of peace,
'Tis sweeter ev'ry day,
Since Jesus calmed my troubled soul,
And bore my sins away.

I sing the song of perfect love,
It casteth out all fear!
O breadth, O length, O depth, O height!
O love so full of cheer!

I've learn'd to sing the song of joy,
My cup is running o'er
With blessings full of peace and love,
And still there's more and more!

Hiding in the shadow
Of Thy shelt'ring wings,
I shall rest confiding
In the King of kings.
Then, whate'er Thou sendest,
Happy shall I be,
Jesus, my Redeemer,
Looking unto Thee.

CASTING ALL YOUR CARE UPON HIM

It is Thy will that I should cast
My ev'ry care on Thee;
To Thee refer each rising grief,
Each new perplexity;

That I should trust Thy loving care,
And look to Thee alone,
To calm each troubled thought to rest,
In prayer before Thy throne.

How sweet, my Saviour, to repose
On Thine almighty pow'r!
To feel Thy strength upholding me,
Thro' ev'ry passing hour!
